

What do I do if my heating oil tank leaks due to damage from the storm or flooding?

If an underground or above ground storage tank discharges fuel oil due to damage from the storm or flooding, you must contact the DEP 24-hour toll-free telephone hotline: 1-877-WARN-DEP (1-877-927-6337)

You can also contact your heating system service company or a DEP certified environmental professional. For more information regarding leaking underground heating oil tanks, please visit <http://www.nj.gov/dep/srp/unregulatedtanks/>.

What do I do if I see gasoline leaking from a tank at a gasoline service station due to damage from the storm or flooding?

A discharge of any chemical or petroleum product, such as gasoline, should be reported to the DEP 24-hour toll-free telephone hotline: 1-877-WARN-DEP (1-877-927-6337)
